DAISY HUDSON IS ONLY WOMAN MANAGING IRRIGATION DISTRICT

DAISY HUDSON, center, of the Saucelito Irrigation district ten miles southwest of Porterville, was singled out for a salute at recent annual meeting of the Friant Water Users association in Visalia as the only woman irrigation district manager in the United States. She has held the post since 1958 after serving previously as secretary and then as assessor-collector-treasurer of the district. She is not an engineer but can read blueprints and is highly regarded for her expertise on water matters. Some 50 different crops are grown in the 19,000 acre district. With Daisy are John Teerink, left, California's director of water resources, and Warren Carter of Wasco, FWUA president. (Total Communications photo)

FREE FIREWORKS - JULY 4

Exchange Club To Present Show In Jamison Stadium

PORTERVILLE — Patriotic Fourth of July fireworks show will be presented by the Porterville Exchange club in Jamison stadium next Thursday evening, with gates opening at 6 p.m. and with first night displays to be set off at dark - about 9 p.m.

The show - an annual Exchange club community service event - will feature set pieces on the floor of the stadium interspersed with some 200 aerial bursts and an aerial barrage as a finale.

Set pieces will include the American flag, the Exchange club emblem, a Blazing Sun, a Jewelled Fan, Fairy Fountains, a Floral Flash Curtain, La Persane, Criss-Cross Comets, Eagle and Banner, Sea of Fire, Tree of Liberty, Tower of Mystery, Mosaic Carpet, Snow Storm Wheel, Fairy Circle, and Bugs Bunny.

At end of the show's intermission, dedication ceremony will be held for the J. Claude Nelson Memorial fountain at the new Porterville college campus ecology pond. This part of the evening program will be in charge of the Porterville College Patrons' association.

During the evening music will be provided by the Porterville Community Recreation band, under direction of Buck Shaffer and Jerry Kuhlmann. Entertaining also will be seven-year-old Casandra Boni, Porterville entry in the Exchange club's Search For Talent, who won district and regional competition and is appearing in state competition today, Thursday, at Palm Springs.

Concession stands, operated by Exchange club members and their wives, will open on the grounds at 6 p.m.; on the concessions committee are Glenn Humphrey, chairman; Don Foerster, Ed. Coleman and Dick Freeman.

Pyro-technicians for the show will be Harlan Bentz, Roger Lane and Duane Cozart; assisting with coordination between ground and air displays will be Dewey Summerfield and Dr. Wilbur Stover; commentator will be Larry Cotta, Porterville city councilman and former mayor.

As in past years, printed programs will be numbered and, during intermission, numbers drawn. Persons who hold the numbered program will be given an opportunity to repeat the slogan from a business firm advertising in the program; if they are successful, they will win cash prizes.

Concerning program advertising, Exchange Club President David Itzenhauser said, "All of our 96 club members thank advertising merchants for their support. It is only through advertising revenue, plus concession stands sales, that we are able to put on this free fireworks show each year."

Itzenhauser said that cost of material for the show runs nearly $2,500, but that with club members actually constructing set pieces and qualifying themselves as pyro-technicians, the club can produce a show that would cost four or five times that much if contracted out to professionals.

In past years the Fourth of July fireworks show has drawn an estimated 15,000 persons, with stadium stands and parking lot filled and with spectators watching from cars along roads in a radius of more than a mile from the stadium.

Editorial Comment

Fourth, Freedom

July starts off with Freedom Day, Monday the first, so designated because of the many nations that observe the anniversary of their freedom during the month.

Canada, Somalia, Algeria, Venezuela, Malawi . . . the list is long. But none of their anniversaries can come close to matching our own, that of adoption of the Declaration of Independence by the Continental Congress in Philadelphia, July 4, 1776.

This Independence Day we are preoccupied with the problems of the national administration. They seem stern and agonizing to many of us, disruptive of faith in the presidency and even of our political system.

To most foreign nations, however, our Watergate uproar is just one of those things that happen to governments now and then. The United States still is looked upon with awe, even if not always deep friendship, as a bastion of freedom, a mighty force in the tortuous problem of organizing world peace and understanding.

To them President Nixon is not the (deleted) in Oval Room conversations. He is the man who opened the door to China, who calmed the Soviet relationship, who sent Henry Kissinger to perform his Mid-east miracle.

On this Fourth of July it would seem appropriate, yes imperative that we recall and consider thoughtfully the meaning of the Declaration. That we should settle as quickly and reasonably as possible our internal differences, and renew our mutual effort to achieve for all men in all nations the unalienable rights of life, liberty and the pursuit of happiness.

We Only Heard

By BILL RODGERS

LAST AUGUST, when the cattle market was taking off like a rocket to the moon, cattlemen were happy indeed to let meat prices seek their own level, but the little ladies at the retail meat counter were screaming to high heaven about the price of meat while the more militant among them were casting cattlemen in the role of villain, organizing beef boycotts, and calling on the federal government to do something. Now just 10 months later, with cattle prices still performing like a rocket - but one coming in for re-entry - it's the little ladies who are all for letting meat prices seek their own level, at the same time casting the retail meat dealer as a villain who will not let said prices drop fast enough, while it is the cattlemen who are calling on the federal government to do something. . . . Which might indicate that elected officials, in all their brilliant and enlightened wisdom, can't accomplish such a simple little thing as repealing the law of supply and demand.

TRUSTEES OF Porterville Public schools are in the process of hiring a public information specialist (to those of us in the trade - a propaganda merchant), a move that we of Neanderthal lineage take a dim view of since we have difficulty justifying the spending of taxpayer money to influence taxpayers to spend more money in an increasingly wonderful and beautiful world of academic propaganda. . . . But propaganda merchants have become an accepted - even a sought-after appendage to political subdivisions, corporations, large businesses, organized groups, associations, etc. etc. et al. So, Porterville school trustees might as well have at it, and some ambitious youngster, or oldster, who aspires to the life of a huckster can test his metal by first selling himself to the trustees then getting down to the business at hand - selling schools to we the public.

GOVERNMENTAL POLICIES BROUGHT ENERGY SHORTAGE SAYS NATIONAL CHAMBER HEAD

WICHITA - Actions and policies of the Federal government are to blame for today's energy shortages and wasteful consumption, according to the president of the chamber of commerce of the United States.

At the same time, President Arch Booth issued a call for more stringent conservation of fuel supplies to avert a renewed crisis that might be worse than the situation endured last winter.

The national chamber executive emphasized a continuing need for a voluntary policy of energy conservation until the nation is able to develop adequate sources of all kinds of fuel. The only alternative is a return to long lines at gasoline filling stations, threats of gasoline rationing and possibly more burdensome hardships for the nation, he stressed.

Hitting the interference by the Federal government into the energy marketplace, Booth told his audience that "well-intentioned and ill-fated meddling with the forces of supply and demand" began 20 years ago with the regulation of interstate prices for natural gas. "The Federal Power Commission sought to 'protect the consumer' by holding the wellhead price for new natural gas discoveries below the level which a free market would have established," he said.

This produced unnaturally low prices for natural gas, with a resultant increased consumption while, at the same time, producers were shunning new explorations since their return was not worth the investment, he added.

On top of this factor was the relatively inexpensive foreign oil the industry turned to in order to meet a growing demand, and the result was a rapid increase in usage of both fuels while their prices, until recently, "were falling in relation to all other prices," Booth said.

Environmental and safety regulations at the federal level cut into the development and use of coal as the major fuel source it once was. Consumers turned increasingly to oil - primarily foreign oil - and the nation today, "for the first time since the War of 1812, is at the mercy of the foreign policy of other nations," the chamber president declared.

The solution is simple, "once you recognize that artificially low prices have caused the problem: We must free energy prices from government regulation," Booth explained.

Such action will not be popular in an election year, he added, but other proposals being advanced - such as extending price control to crude oil at the wellhead, and price rollbacks for the oil industry - will only assure continued shortages and economic stagnation.

and Paula Doyel and Gaylene Peters, song leaders.

While most of the members of the Plano club formerly belonged to the Vandalia club, the new club does not represent a "split" in the Vandalia club, according to adult leaders.

Rather, they say, certain families decided to organize a new club to broaden the 4-H program and make 4-H available to more young people.

At Vandalia, as has been the case in several other long-established 4-H clubs, membership grew to a point where it was cumbersome and membership waiting list became too long, leaders said.

Producers of California's $66.8 million Irish potato crop have indicated they want a general research marketing order. A proposal may be submitted to a vote of growers by C.B. Christensen, director of food and agriculture, in July.

The Housing Authority Commissioner was in Springville Wednesday, June 19th, and was very pleased with the hospital site - saying he had been in Springville only once before and at that time had the impression the site was way out on the edge of town - he was happy to find it within easy walking distance and very convenient.

Tuesday night, June 18th, at a packed meeting at Memorial Hall, precise zoning for Springville from Springville Rancho to just below Upper Globe was adopted. The plan is very similar to that proposed by the committee from the Springville Chamber of Commerce.

The Springville Chamber of Commerce would like to thank the Planning Commission for being so congenial and this precise zoning should be a Les Tompkins, President of the Springville Chamber of Commerce, would like to thank his committee of 14 fellows who studied the zoning and made proposals. The Planning Commission reports it was very nicely done.

Friday afternoon, June 21st, a bus carrying boys headed for Pyle's Boys Camp sheared a bolt in the transmission on the curve just above the second power house on Hwy. 190. The bus was stalled right there on the curve and a logging truck coming down tried to make it around the bus and in doing so, turned too sharply causing his load to bind. A big tow truck helped pull the logger's load around so he could continue and J.B. Gibson arrived with the necessary part for the bus. No one was hurt.

Success Valley was 'in the dark' twice in the past week. On Tuesday, June 18th the electricity was off for about two hours and Edison company reports that they could find no reason for the outage. During fire season, Edison cannot test its lines making it difficult sometimes to determine what the problem is - it could have been a cow rubbing against a guy line, causing wires to come in

Thursday evening, the Giddings children, coming home from a softball game thought at first they were observing a landing by Martians, when just ahead of them suddenly the entire valley was lit with a freakish light followed by sparkling that fell to the ground. Edison Company reported that at 10:23 P.M. an owl lit on a transformer and had touched two hot wires and there was no power outage. We learned however, that one family in Success Valley was out of power throughout the following day, due to three lines being broken.

Last weekend Springville saw over 800 motorcyclists pass through on their way to Camp Nelson. Some of the cyclists were members of the American Motorcycle Association and were wearing AMA uniforms, while others were members of the San Gabriel Valley group. No trouble was reported and a good time was had by all.

Vacation Bible School at the Southern Baptist Church on Bogart Drive started this week and a good turnout is reported. In addition to teachers from the church, the Vacation Bible School also has two visiting college students who are doing missionary work, assisting. A program is planned for Friday, June 28 at 7:30 P.M. and all parents and friends are invited.

Springville School is undergoing some improvements. The entire lower level play area has been plowed and seeded with grass and a sprinkler system installed.

Jack Anderson, prominent national newspaper columnist, has been booked to speak at Bakersfield college on April 8, 1975.

Go easy on your air conditioning.

And make it easier on your pocketbook.

This summer your air conditioner could use more electricity than any other appliance in your home. It can eat into your budget, too. Especially now, since the rising cost of low-sulphur foreign oil has caused your electric bill to go up.

The cost of foreign oil is an expense we can't control. But you can control your air conditioning. Besides saving money, you will be conserving energy. That's very important during hot summer months when the demand for electricity is at a peak. The California Public Utilities Commission has recommended temperatures should not be reduced below 78 degrees.

How much can you save? During the hot summer months you can cut air conditioning costs about 30% by keeping your room temperature at 78 degrees instead of 70 degrees.

You can also save electricity—and money—by keeping your air conditioning equipment in good operating shape. Clean the filters often and replace them when necessary.

Proper insulation can make a very big difference. If your home is not adequately insulated, you are using considerably more electricity than necessary to cool your home. In fact, it may cost you less in the long run to insulate your home now instead of paying for wasted electricity from now on. For information, see your local insulation contractor.

This summer, make every kilowatt count. Keep cool, but conserve, too. Makes sense, doesn't it?

SUGAR ACT VOTED OUT

WASHINGTON — Failure of congress to renew the 40-year-old Sugar act that governs sugar production and marketing will have little effect on the sugar industry in the Central San Joaquin valley, according to spokesmen for both growers and processing industry.

But the California Farm Bureau Federation says that vote to kill the "much-misunderstood Sugar act will hurt those who fought hardest for elimination of the act - consumers."

Richard Strong, Farm Bureau commodity specialist, further says "Death of the act could well mean the demise of many sugar beet acres in California."

Although the Sugar act was killed by the House, the U.S. Senate could revive the act by passing an extension bill and sending it back to the House for another try.

THUNDERBIRDS vs BOMBERS IN STADIUM TOMORROW NIGHT

PORTERVILLE — Strongest team to ever represent the world champion Los Angeles Thunderbirds will be in action against the powerful San Francisco Bombers tomorrow, Friday, night at Jamison stadium. Action will get underway at 8 p.m.

Coach Ronnie Rains, who leads the star-studded Thunderbird team, is considered by many to be the finest skater to ever set foot on the banked track. An international skating champion on the flat track, Rains turned professional in 1963 and joined the Thunderbirds in 1965. He earned the nickname "psycho" because of his antics on and off the track.

Among those skating on the Thunderbird men's team will be such stars as Leon Jackson, Bobby Corbin, Billy Marshall, Ed Dresser and Jim "the road-runner" Terrigno, the fastest man on skates in the world.

Julie "Ace" Patrick, a 25-year veteran of the skating wars will lead a powerful T-Bird girl's team. She is a pretty blonde, noted for her famous leap of the pack to score. Skating with Julie will be Colleen Murrell, from Australia, who is one of the top scoring threats in the league. Colleen joined the Thunderbirds in Australia in 1965 and has been a regular ever since.

Erlene Brown, the 260-pound, six-foot giant is the top defense strength of the Thunderbird girls. Erlene was the U.S. woman's shot put champion for 12 years and represented the U.S. in three Olympics - Rome, Melbourne and Tokyo. She has returned to Melbourne and Tokyo as a skater with the Thunderbirds and the fans who watched her in the Olympics were back to welcome her with the Thunderbirds.

In addition to Miss Brown, Carmen "Sugar" Thompson, Honey Sanchez and Peggy Fowler will see action in the coming series with the traditional rivals from the Bay Area, the San Francisco Bombers.

Tickets are on sale for the game at Sierra West Travel, Williams Jewelers and Mineral King Savings and Loan in Porterville and Gottschalks Department Store in the Visalia

FIRST WOMAN ON AERONAUTICS BOARD

SACRAMENTO — Experienced aviatrix, Madine Carpenter, of Newport Beach, has been appointed by Governor Reagan to become the first woman member of the California State Aeronautics board. A veteran of more than 2,000 hours flying time, Mrs. Carpenter, wife of State Senator Dennis E. Carpenter, holds instrument, commercial, multi-engine, flight instructor and ground instructor ratings. She placed in three of the four transcontinental air races she has flown in between 1964 and 1972. She won the Palms-to-Pines race last year and the Vixon-Frist race in 1967.

Fair, also at the stadium tomorrow night.

The Roller Games are being brought to Porterville by the Porterville College Patrons' association and the Vandalia 4-H Beef club.

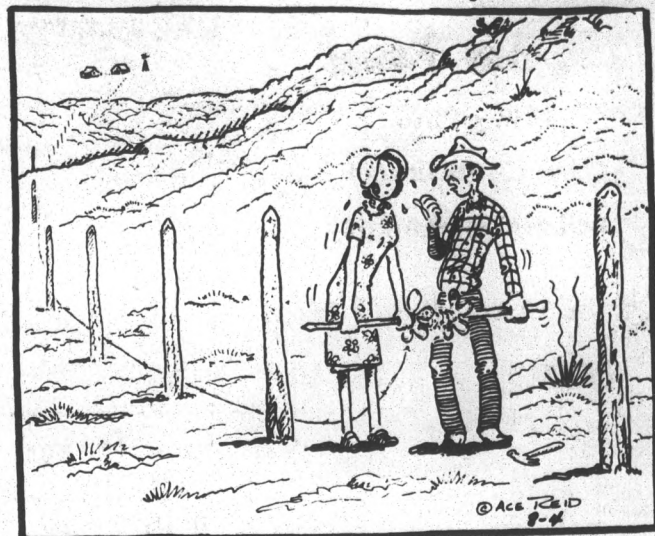

ROLLER GAME stars in action - that's what fans will see when the Los Angeles Thunderbirds take on the San Francisco Bombers in Jamison stadium the evening of June 28, starting at 8 p.m. Some of those stars are, from left, top: Erlene Brown, three-time Olympic games competitor for the

Expect more from us.We're the Bank
most active in agriculture

CROP PRODUCTION LOANS • LIVESTOCK LOANS
FARM EQUIPMENT LOANS • FOREIGN TRADE FINANCING
CAPITAL IMPROVEMENT LOANS • LEASING •
FARM REAL ESTATE LOANS • ESTATE PLANNING

You can expect more in the whole field of farm financing when you do business with Bank of America. And every one of our farm loan officers will be happy to show you how and why. For instance:

More money?

Certainly! It takes more money to raise cattle these days, and we loan more money to agriculture than any other bank. Money is our business. And we want to put it to work where it will help our whole community prosper.

More attractive terms?

Of course! We are competitive in all phases of farm financing. And when you do business with us, your business is confidential, too. We tailor our loans to fit your objectives. And we start with the assumption that your objective is profit. Profit for yourself. For your family. For the whole economy.

A stronger commitment?

Depend on it! Bank of America was committed to agriculture the day we were founded, and that commitment is stronger today than it ever was. Even in the tightest of tight money times, our cattle customers moved ahead. And we are always looking to go all the way with anyone who has the ability and ambition to get there.
